

Course: GDPR: Legislation summary - How to develop a Data Flow Map

Course overview

This course aims to describe and explain the provisions of the Regulation (EU) 2016/679, the Cyprus national law for GDPR, Law 125(I)/2018 and briefly refers for the guidelines that the European Data Protection Board (EDPB) issues for the GDPR. The course also aims to explain in brief the Data Flow Map, its key aspects and how an organisation can develop and use a Data Flow Map.

Course Description

This course describes in brief about the Regulation (EU) 2016/679 and explains when this Regulation applies. The course provides a number of examples in order to understand the application of the Regulation (EU) 2016/679. This course also explains about the usefulness of a Data Flow Map and how an organisation may create and use a Data Flow Map. The Regulation (EU) 2016/679 entered into force and applies from the 25th of May 2018 and is a set of rules relating to the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and in relation to the free movement of personal data. The Data Flow Map is a useful tool for an organisation to understand from where it collects personal data, what personal data collects, how these personal data move within and outside the organisation and the need to implement security measures to secure the processing of the personal data.
